A little fiddly to put together and it does prevent access to the SD card (if you need to take the card out you have to dismantle it). Having said that it does look pretty good attached to the "Breadboard Base for Pibow"

You have the Pi Zero W, you need this little guy to protect it. It fits perfectly and the build quality is nothing like those very cheap options you find on other dubious websites. This is good quality! This is resistant plastic. And it comes very well protected. 100% recommended.
